

Troubles and How to Correct Them

By James J. Montague.

Automobile instruction books are seriously inadequate. They deal only with troubles connected with the motor and chassis. These are the smallest part of the motorist's annoyances. His major troubles are outside the car altogether. And unless he knows how to find and correct these his life will be beset with continual and increasing difficulties. For the benefit of our brother motorists we have made an exhaustive study of the automobilist's real troubles, and we submit the simple remedies we have gathered. We hope at some future time to expand this brief essay into a book which no motorist can afford to do without. We will give our readers due notice of the publication of this volume. In the meantime we shall continue ourselves to the following:

Service Station Trouble. Boy at counter refuses to function. Manager missing altogether. Operatives on floor remain stationary. No response of any sort to usual tests. Remedy: Grasp counter boy firmly by collar, lead him to shelf where part desired is stored. Point to part with right forefinger, pronounce clearly its name, place it in hand of boy. Lead boy to cashier's desk. If cashier remains somnolent take part from hand of boy and tap cashier smartly on temple with same. If part is a casting this will have desired effect.

Truck Driver Trouble. Truck driver throws truck square across road. At blast of motorist horn and inquiry as to how long truck will remain in said position says, "Mebbe for years and mebbe forever," and inquires what the motorist is going to do about it.

Remedy: Take crank from under seat of car or wherever kept. Alay truck driver's suspicions by pretending to crank car. When he is lighting pipe or cigaret take careful aim and hurl crank, hitting him squarely on point of jaw. When he topples from truck, climb on seat, start truck and drive it into neighboring field. Then return to car and drive on.

Wife Trouble. This occurs in aggravated form when driving with wife in car. Wife frequently gasps as you round sharp corner, and cries, "Look out!" when you are passing a car. Also asks if you have filled gasoline tank before starting on long trip, which is very annoying when you haven't.

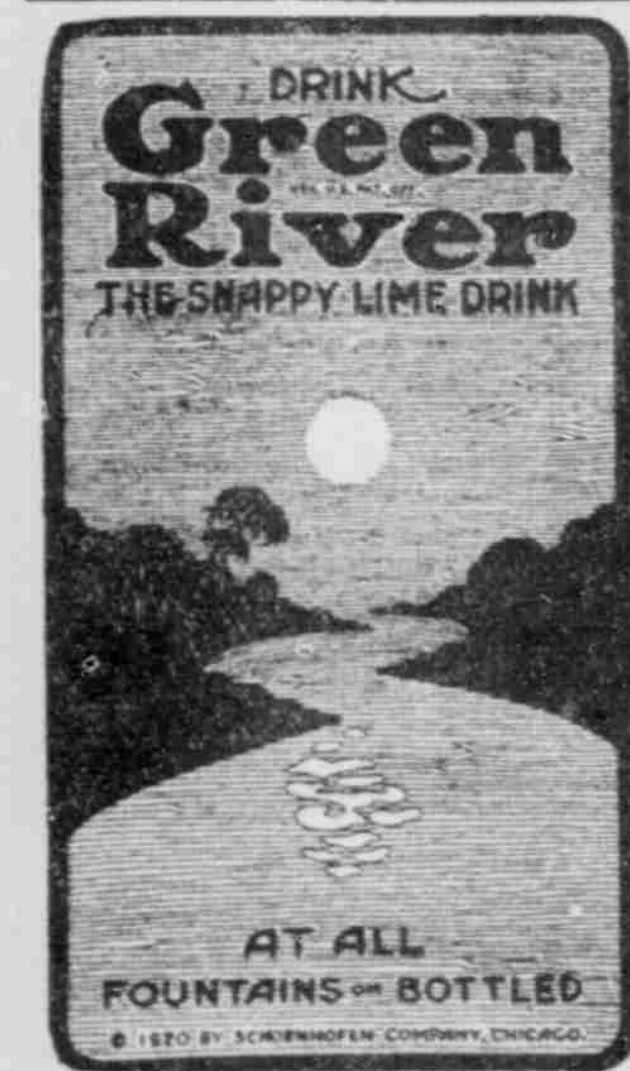

Remedy: At first observation from wife concerning operation of car, or character of your driving stop car quickly and gag wife with large cloth which it is well to provide in advance for this purpose.

If wife still makes herself heard through gag, stop car again and remove her from seat to middle of road. In some cases it is best to bind her firmly to fence post. Then resume journey. If far from home a taxi or express wagon can be sent for wife later in day.

Policeman Trouble. This exists in two forms, which we will designate by letters A and B. A. Bicycle policeman overtakes car and by motion of hand makes it clear that he desires you to stop. Look sharply at hand. If it contains ticket to policeman's benefit bail loosen and purchase as many tickets as you expect to make trips over that particular thoroughfare. If it contains bit of white paper resist impulse to drive on which will get you nothing but trouble.

Remedy: Slow down car till policeman is within easy reach, then with sudden motion of hand thrust him from motorcycle. While he is getting machine righted, round corner and go by shortest route to another state, where you should acquire new license and remain as a permanent resident.

B. Traffic policeman discovered holding up hand to stop after you have passed corner and car is protruding toward middle of street. Said policeman approaching you menacingly.

ACADEMY MEMBERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Gathering to be Held in Creek Canyon Park May 13.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18. — At least 100 members of the Indiana Academy of Science will attend the spring meeting at McCormick's Creek Canyon state park on May 13, 14, 15. Prof. Ray C. Friesner of Butler college, chairman of the committee on arrangements, informed Richard Lieber, director of the department of conservation which controls the park.

On this trip the members who are interested in botanical, zoological, entomological and geological research, will have opportunity to visit the flatwoods of Owen and Monroe counties—one of the most interesting regions of Indiana. The flat-woods district, the site of a glacial lake, covers an area of about 15 square miles southeast of Spencer.

One hundred and sixty-eight vessels were built on the Great Lakes in 1918.

Speaking of campaign expenditures, Vice President Marshall spent $3,250 in his campaign for the governorship of Indiana. Returning from his campaign he found $10,000 in contributions, which he promptly sent back.

When a woman is in good health and spirits she likes to see and hear children romp and play. She knows it is natural for healthy youngsters to be somewhat noisy.

This interesting phase is brought out in a statement made by Mrs. Ida Beldon, 52 South Felle Street, regarding the benefits she has received from Pepgen.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for two years," says Mrs. Beldon. "There were many things I could not eat because of the severe pains that would follow. My tongue was coated. I had pains in the muscles of my back and between my shoulders. I was restless at night and often did not go to sleep until four o'clock in the morning. I lost 25

"I was so nervous that I could not bear the noise of the children playing around the house. At times I thought their noisy play would drive me crazy. The trouble wasn't with the children, of course, it was just my own nervous condition.

"I am glad to be able to say Pepgen has given me relief. I stopped the formation of gas in my stomach. I do not jump every time I hear a little noise as I used to. I sleep soundly at night instead of rolling and tossing. My nervousness is relieved."

Pepgen is sold by Striebel and Steinel (The Public Drug Store) South Bend, The Red Cross Pharmacy, Mishawaka, and all other leading drug stores.
